

Brainstorming for Lesson Plans

Step One

Take ten minutes and write down everything you might be able to do a fifty minute lesson on. This is brainstorming, so don't throw anything out.

Step Two

Get into groups of three and share what you came up with—the good and the wild. In your group, write down what you collectively think are the five best lesson plan ideas you have.

Step Three

Be ready to talk about your ideas—both about brainstorming generally and your lesson plan ideas.
