

Group Brainstorming on Lesson Plans

Step One

Get into groups based on the following:

- Desire to work with young children (pre-six).
- Desire to work with elementary children (six to 11).
- Desire to work with middle school students (12-14).
- Desire to work with high school students (15-18).
- Desire to work with college aged students (18+).

Step Two

In your groups, with the big paper, list as many “good ways” to begin a lesson about anything that you can think of. Ask yourself this question: how can I get and keep my students attention.

Step Three

Be ready to talk, as a group, about what you come up with for lesson plan ideas; also be ready to ask whatever questions you have, right now, about the lesson plan assignment.